

Posey,Buster						Health	D	LIMA Plan	C+	Impressive comeback by a rising star—but step back and take a deep breath. The 2H h% and PX are unrepeatable, and he won't always dominate LHP like that. He hits tons of GBs, and xPX suggests regression. But 1H production is a reasonable benchmark; double it, and he's still a top-flight catcher.

Prado,Martin						Health	B	LIMA Plan	B	Fine rebound from injury-plagued 2011. As always, solid ct% virtually assured a lofty BA. SB boost was a perfect storm of SBO and SB%; history casts doubt on a repeat. Hit plenty of line drives, but low hr/f tempered HR totals. BA is the main attraction here; in his prime years, so expect more of the same.

Presley,Alex						Health	B	LIMA Plan	D	10-25-.237 with 9 SB in 346 AB at PIT. Won the LF job with a hot March, but lost it with a cold April that relegated him to the AAA shuttle all season. PRO: Good speed; some pop in the bat. CON: Low bb% in the majors; SB% might warrant a red light going forward. More bus rides await.

Profar,Jurickson						Health	A	LIMA Plan	D	1-2-.176 in 17 AB at TEX. NEWS FLASH: He's good. Great plate patience, makes contact, has power and speed, a solid defender. But don't go overboard in redraft leagues. We expect there to be some rampant Trout-inflation this spring. He's not going to hit 30 HRs and steal 45 bases. Not yet, anyway.
